FORMED BOOK OF THE WEEK:
 THE SOUL'S UPWARD YEARNING

Father Spitzer's work provides a bright light in the midst of the darkness by presenting traditional and contemporary evidence for God and a trans-physical soul from several major sources. It shows that... we are self-reflective beings aware of and able to strive toward perfect truth, love, goodness, and beauty; and that we have the dignity of being created in the very image of God...

 CHAPTER 3 "FAITHFULNESS IN LITTLE THINGS"

Our lives for the most part are made up of little things, and by these our character is to be tested. There are very few who have to take a prominent place in the great conflicts of our age; the vast majority must dwell in humbler scenes and be content to do a more humble work. The conflicts which we have to endure either against evil in our own soul or in the moral circle where our influence would seem to be trivial are in reality the struggle of the battle for life and a decency; and true heroism is shown here as well as in those grander scales in which other win the leader's fame or the martyr's crown. Little duties carefully discharged; little temptations earnestly resisted with the strength which God supplies; little sins crucified; these all together help to form that character which is to be described not as popular or glamorous, but as moral and noble.

From God's point of view nothing is great, nothing is small as we measure it. The worth and the quality of any action depends upon its motive and not at all upon its prominence or any other accidents which we are apt to adopt as standards of greatness. Nothing is small that can be done from a mighty motive, such as the mite which the widow dropped into the Temple Treasury. Conscience knows no such word as "large" or "small"; it knows only two words, "right" and "wrong." ☩☩

QUOTE OF THE WEEK

Cardinal Saint John Henry Newman

"My God, You know infinitely better than I how little I love You. I would not love You at all except for Your grace. It is Your grace that has opened the eyes of my mind and enabled them to see Your glory. It is Your grace that has touched my heart and brought upon it the influence of what is so wonderfully beautiful and fair . . . O my God, whatever is nearer to me than You, things of this earth, and things more naturally pleasing to me, will be sure to interrupt the sight of You, unless Your grace interferes. Keep my eyes, my ears, my heart from any such miserable tyranny. Break my bonds—raise my heart.
